

Fahey seeking a sparkling run from Glen's Diamond

12th Jan: Jason Ford: Racing Post

One current and one former Richard Fahey inmate are among the eye-catching runners as the Dubai World Cup Carnival steps up another gear today.

Glen's Diamond, who ran up a sequence of four wins before finishing unplaced in the King Edward VII Stakes, has his first run since Royal Ascot in the 1m4f turf handicap.

Fahey said: "We've always planned to bring him to Dubai. He's fresh and well but whatever he does here he will improve for the run and hopefully step up in trip in the future."

Apart from saddling his two runners today – the Jim McGrath-owned Sir Reginald is the other – Fahey will also be rooting for his former inmate Mickdaam, now trained by Mike De Kock, in the UAE 2.000 Guineas Trial.

Fahey trained the colt for Sheikh Mohammed Bin Khalifa Al Maktoum to win at York last October. "He has a Derby entry and we rate him highly," he said.
